

SUZUKI-Farbcodes für Zweiräder

1. Erklärungen

Diese Liste ist keine Original-Information von SUZUKI, sondern wurde aus verschiedenen Quellen zusammengestellt. Sie erhebt keinen Anspruch auf Vollständigkeit und Korrektheit. Die dargestellten Farben sind beispielhaft und entsprechen nicht den Originalfarbtönen. Änderungs- und Ergänzungsvorschläge bitte an den Webmaster von www.gs-classic.de.

SUZUKI-Teilenummern bestehen aus 2 Zahlenblöcken. Falls die Teile lackiert sind, wird noch eine entsprechende Kennung angehängt:
 09000-00000 Unlackiertes Teil
 09000-00000-000 Unlackiertes Teil
 09000-00000-019 Lackiertes Teil (hier 019 = Black)

Farben wurden nicht nur bei einzelnen Modellen verwendet, sondern teilweise über viele Jahre bei verschiedenen Typen. Für denselben Farbcode wurden zum Teil verschiedene Bezeichnungen gewählt (Beispiel: 264 = Pearl Orange, Summit Orange, Copper). Auch für dieselbe Bezeichnung existieren unterschiedliche Farbcodes (Beispiel: Candy Orange = 00Z und 138). Bestimmte Farben wurden auch nur für einzelne Märkte verwendet und teilweise der Name angepasst. Entscheidend für die Identifizierung einer Farbe ist stets der Farbcode. Steht im Code eine "0", wird dies bei verschiedenen Quellen auch mit dem Buchstaben "O" bezeichnet (Beispiel: 00A = OOA, Y09 = YO9). Steht im Code eine "1" am Anfang, wird dies bei verschiedenen Quellen auch mit dem englischen "I" bezeichnet (Beispiel: 1AC = IAC). Beim Suchen in dieser Liste also stets "0" und "1" verwenden.

Lieferquellen (Beispiele): X1234 Standox (standox.de)
 Sources (examples): 12-3456 R.H. Lacke (motorradlacke.de)
 F1234 - W1234 Dupont
 12345 BASF

Explanations

This list is not a genuine information of SUZUKI, but has been compiled from various sources. It does not claim to be complete and correct. The colours shown are exemplary and do not correspond to the original colour shades. For changes and additions, please contact the webmaster of www.gs-classic.de.

SUZUKI parts numbers consist of 2 numbers blocks. If the parts are painted, a corresponding identification code is attached:
 Unpainted part
 Unpainted part
 Painted part (here 019 = Black)

Colours were used not only on individual models, but for many years on different types. For the same colour code several different designations were chosen (example: 264 = Pearl Orange, Summit Orange, Copper). There are also different colour codes for the same designation (example: Candy Orange = 00Z and 138). Certain colours were also used for individual markets only and partly the name was adapted.

Decisive for the identification of a colour is always the colour code. If the code contains a "0", this is also indicated by different sources by the letter "O" (example: 00A = OOA, Y09 = YO9). If the code has a "1" at the beginning, this is also indicated by various sources by the English "I" (example: 1AC = IAC). When searching in this list, always use "0" and "1".

Colour combinations

Usually, the following colour combinations are decorative lines or stickers. This can be seen if the compilations consist of colours, which are referred to above as "tape".

Ab den 80er-Jahren wurden zunehmend Mehrfarben-Lackierungen verwendet, die eigene Farbcodes bekamen. Die tatsächliche Zuordnung kann nur durch die Ersatzteilliste bestimmt werden.

From the 80s onwards, multicolour paintwork were increasingly used, which had their own colour codes. The actual assignment can only be determined by the spare parts list.
